Performance water reducer

Introduction:

Performance water reducer, which is special designed for self-compacting concrete, high-performance concrete and precast concrete.

Performance water reducer is key ingredient in admixture of concrete.

It can improve the flow ability of concrete while significantly reduce the mixing water of concrete. It has high water-reducing rate to meet the performance requirements of self-compacting concrete, high-performance concrete and precast. And it also has the function on early strength.

Characteristics:

1. Outstanding dispersity: Greatly improve the concrete flow property, suitable for pumping and self compacting concrete.
2. High strength growth rate and durability: Improve concrete strength of every ages, low shrinkage resulting in higher concrete durability.
3. Great Compatibility: Suitable for for all mixing materials, such as portland cement, ordinary portland cement, slag portland, fly ash cement and volcanic ash cement.

Company:

These years, in order to respond to the national development strategy of Being Green, Environmental Protection, Energy Saving and Efficiency Improving, Zhuoxing Chem has taken big efforts in production upgrading, output promoting and waste emission reducing. At the same time Zhuoxing Chem has developed some new products, such as polycarboxylate superplasticizer powder, powder defoamer etc.
